

Presented by the IEC Chesapeake &
Bucks County Community College

“An Introduction to the Solar PV Market”

Bucks County Community College, Lower Bucks Campus
1304 Veterans Highway, Room 233
Bristol, PA 19007

Government incentives have been established to encourage growth and development in the solar electric market. The Solar America Initiative predicts that by 2015 solar electricity will be less expensive than grid electricity in many parts of the country. To learn more about this changing industry and what IEC Chesapeake and Bucks County Community College are doing, be sure to attend this presentation by Don Bonnet, Master Electrician and owner of Ridgeway & Ernest Electrical. Don has been an active participant in developing Solar Training with IEC Chesapeake and has achieved the NABCEP Certification of Knowledge.

Topics to be discussed:

- How is this region being impacted by high energy prices?
- What role will solar electric play?
- What are the opportunities for Electrical Contractors
- What Training is available for Electrical Contractors
