Thank you for attending the 22nd Tyler Tasting Party!

The Bucks County Community College Campus is a spectacular venue to have an event like the Tasting Party and The First National Bank is proud to be the presenting sponsor.

At The First, we have seen quite a bit of change in Bucks County since 1864 when we first started to serve the residents and businesses of Bucks. As a community bank, we invest back into your neighborhood and the businesses you use in the area. The deposit dollars you invest with us stays in Bucks County to help our local economies.

Equally exciting are all the changes and improvements that have happened with The Community College since it's inception in 1964. Three beautiful campuses and an online program that provides students with either an associate degree or certificate. They have done an amazing job of meeting the needs of the residents of Bucks County.

Thank you for your interest in the Bucks County Community College and we appreciate your attendance at this year's Tyler Tasting Party. Have a great time!

Sincerely,

Welcome to the Tyler Mansion

Bucks County Community College is unique among institutions of its kind in starting in what can easily be described as a baronial estate. The original classroom building of the College was formerly Council Rock, the 60-room mansion of the Tyler family.

The architectural style of the house is French-Norman, featuring several towers and a castellated balcony. The main building measures some 300 feet from wing to wing, and when it was a private home, it had 45 main rooms. Interior decorating of the entire mansion was done by Henry D. Sleeper of Boston, Massachusetts.

George F. Tyler, banker, sportsman, gentleman farmer, and Stella Elkins Tyler, granddaughter of William L. Elkins for whom Elkins Park is named, authorized the designing of the house as early as 1928. Designed by architects Willing, Sims & Talbut, actual construction began in 1930. The 2,000-acre Tyler Estate was developed by combining several old farm properties along both sides of the Neshaminy Creek. One essential part of each was the springhouse with a natural flow of cool water to refrigerate milk and other perishables. This sturdy structure was built on what was known as the Charles Kirby farm, which is adjacent to the East Gate entrance to the College.

After moving to Bucks County in 1933 the Tylers gave their home in Elkins Park, an estate then valued at more than a million dollars, to Temple University. After her death in 1963, Mrs. Tyler bequeathed Indian Council Rock (the name of the Estate) to Temple University for education purposes. At the time, the trustees of Temple decided that immediate use of the Estate did not conform to the University's long range plan and the Trustees of the recently created Bucks County Community College were searching for a site. On January 29, 1965, settlement was made for the purchase of the Estate consisting of 200 acres and all buildings thereon for the sum of $700,000.

is often the biggest challenge of an entrepreneur's career.

"For the entrepreneur, succession is not only a business crisis, but it is also an emotional and spiritual crisis. Each of these categories must be dealt with to build a successful plan. One must be willing to go below the surface to truly discover the real issues that are driving the bus. If honestly confronted we can convert these stumbling blocks into building blocks. If ignored, then step back and watch the bus wreck."
